

Starting Statistics: Data Handling for Beginners

Author

Ian Hosker

Price

£11.99

Format

Paperback,
215 x 135mm, 160pp

ISBN

9781842851388

About the Author

Ian Hosker MSc is an applied researcher. He lives and works in the South West of England and examines worldwide social trends. He enjoys long Walks on both coasts of the South West of England.

For social science students including psychology ,sociology,

Information Points

- Authoritative - written by a very experienced teacher
- A growing market of IB/ level students and undergraduate students and students taking college or university-based foundation year degree courses
- Growing number of social science students.
- A must have book for all students studying this area.

In Focus- A Studymates Series

Who else wants to be able analyse data?

This expert study guide will meet the needs of all students whether they are studying the field with an applied social science discipline or as part of a wider programme, or as a distinct subject like psychology.

It will introduce students to statistics and help them to analyse their coursework data and determine patterns from the data from which they can make generalisations. If you need to understand how basic statistics works then this book is definitely for you.

Written by an experienced and sympathetic teacher, the book introduces statistics in a way that means it is almost impossible not to understand. The book covers all of the basics to get you started with statistics and is written by the author of Statistics for Social sciences; how to handle and analyse data in social sciences.

This book includes:

- What's in a number?
- Managing data
- Probability
- Sampling and research design
- Defining and refining your research
- Measures of central tendency and variance
- Indices and scales
- Data exploration
- Hypothesis testing
- Bivariate analysis
- Correlation

Market

- All students of social sciences in colleges and universities
- College and university central and department libraries
- Teachers, tutors and lecturers
- Public and reference libraries
- General readers

SUBJECT AREA

Social science/psychology/education

studymates
Helping You to Achieve